

THE BANKRUPT LAW.

The bill which has passed Congress repealing the bankrupt law of 1867, is now in the hands of the President for his signature. There is no doubt that President Hayes will approve the bill as justice and public opinion are strongly in favor of it. With this, in many respects obnoxious law done away with, the business interests of the country will revive. The way in which it has been administered, it has proved to be an unwise law. Of course it has been abused. It created failures in all parts of the country. It was enacted eleven years ago on the theory that when a man by misfortune or any cause, he could not control, became broken up in business and was unable to keep shop any longer, that his property, if he had any left, should be taken and distributed to all his creditors; but as it has been administered for several years, it seeks to discover how little of the property or the money of the bankrupt, can be applied to an honest purpose. Those who supported the law and attempted to defeat the repealing bill, argued that it was the poor man's friend, but there is not a case on record in which laboring men have resorted to the bankrupt law to relieve their misfortunes. Instead of being of any advantage to the workingman, it has been his enemy, for the reason that business disasters, which more or less effect the laborer, have largely multiplied under the administration of the law. This condition of things generally prevailing, public sentiment demanded the repeal of the law. The better class of merchants had got tired of selling goods to dealers who used up the whole value in extravagance or riotous living, and left them to whistle for their pay. It is high time that this condition of things should be done away with, so that no longer can a dishonest debtor thwart and evade his honest creditor, nor the relentless creditor harass and destroy the industrious and honest debtor.

THE PRESIDENT, SHERMAN, AND ANDERSON.

The attempt of the Democrats to impeach President Hayes and Secretary Sherman in any wrong doing in relation to the Florida and Louisiana frauds, will signify fail, unless they have stronger and more positive testimony than they have yet drawn from Anderson. Mr. Charles Nordhoff, one of the best newspaper correspondents in Washington, has seen the President, and asked him how he could explain some of his Louisiana appointments. President Hayes was very frank and earnest in his answer. He said most of the men were ruined in the community in which they lived by doing what he believed was their honest duty. The Democrats ruled by threats and violence. These men's business perished. Nobody would deal with them, and under these circumstances he thought it only right that they should be provided for according to their abilities. Following out this idea to the two colored men on the Louisiana Returning Board, he gave $1,500 places in the Custom House—places which they were able to fill. To the notorious McLean he gave a judgeship in New Mexico, and when he failed of confirmation for that place and asked for a better appointment, and one for which, President Hayes thought him totally unfit, he refused him, at which McLean wrote the President a threatening letter. The latter refused to admit him to the White House, and ordered that nothing should be given him under any circumstances.

The bombshell which Anderson was expected to throw at the Secretary of the Treasury did not explode, and as yet nothing of an implicating character has been produced. The question now is, did Secretary Sherman write the much talked of letter of which the following is a copy?

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20, 1876.
Messrs. D. A. Weber and James E. Anderson: GENTLEMEN: Your note of even date has just been received. Neither Mr. Hayes himself, the gentleman who accompanied me, or the country at large, can ever forget the obligation under which you will have placed us, should you stand firm in the position you have taken. From a long intimate acquaintance with Governor Hayes, I am justified in assuming responsibility for the promises made, and will guarantee that you will be provided for as soon after the 4th of March as may be practicable, and in such manner as will enable you both to leave Louisiana, should you desire it. I am, Sir, very respectfully,
A copy of the letter was offered as evidence before the investigating committee on Saturday, the original not being produced. In conversation with a Herald correspondent Mr. Nordhoff, Secretary Sherman absolutely denied writing any such letter, and at once pronounced it a malignant forgery. At his examination before the committee on Saturday, the Secretary's denial of the authorship of the letter was not given with the same emphasis that he asserted to the correspondent. This has occasioned much hope among the Democrats, and they regard his testimony a virtual admission on the part of the Secretary that he might have written the letter. The fact is, his denial was not as positive as his immediate friends expected, and for this reason, those who are wishing with all their hearts that frauds may be discovered, and the President and the Secretary implicated, are rejoicing over the result. Notwithstanding the doubt which many persons seem to think surround the question, we sincerely hope and earnestly believe, that he will make a complete vindication. To-day there is no officer in the Cabinet who stands higher in the estimation of the public than Secretary Sherman. Our national finances under his administration are being ably and wisely managed, that the public have great confidence in him as a gentleman of integrity and honor, and that anything should be produced which shall in any manner connect him with any unfairness in the Presidential contest in Louisiana, will be a public misfortune.

James E. Anderson, principally upon whom falls the responsibility of proving the great fraud in Louisiana, was appointed in November, 1876, Supervisor of Registration in East Feliciana parish. In 1875 the vote of the parish was 1,688 Republican and 847 Democratic. But in 1876, under the system of bulldozing, violence and murder, the vote stood thus: Democratic, 1,740; Republican one! Democrats should treasure up these figures and then talk about Republican frauds! This man Anderson who is attempting to furnish material for a Democratic investigation, said he was driven out of the parish by threats previous to the election. He returned, however, and after the election made two reports as to the result. In one he says that Democrats traversed the parish during registration, beating and shooting colored voters unless they promised to vote the Democratic ticket. By these means 1,200 colored voters were driven from the polls, and 400 compelled to vote the Democratic ticket. Anderson swore to this state of things, and afterward he said it was the most peaceable and orderly election ever witnessed. But the result is all the same, that there were 1,740 Democratic voters, and one Republican, in a Republican parish! Taking Anderson's perjury into account, his career as a drunkard, as a blackmailer, a deserter from the Union Army, and his dishonesty while in the Government printing office, the public can judge how much faith is to be put in his statements even under oath.

ADVICE AND THE REVISERS.

The revisers and the revision committee have received numerous letters from lawyers suggesting provisions which should be incorporated into the new edition of the revised statutes. The substance of many of their letters has been published by the Milwaukee Sentinel to show the drift of the legal sentiment regarding certain changes in the statutes. Among the suggestions coming from the Janesville bar are these:

Ex-Speaker Cassaday asks an amendment in the interest of a town in Rock County, that elections shall be held at the town hall of any town if they have one.

John Nichols proposed that in the exemption laws the word "or" in the phrase "worth of tools and implements or stock in trade," should be changed to "and." Mr. Nichols also suggested the provision which was adopted as to division fences between village and city lots.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Special dispatch to the Janesville Gazette. MADISON, June 5.—ASSEMBLY.—The standing committees of the last session were reappointed.

The morning session was largely devoted to a long and idle debate upon the question whether members should have the usual session allowance of newspapers, the result being that papers were allowed.

SENATE.—Governor Smith sent in a message calling the attention of the Legislature to the devastation and loss of life by the late tornado in Iowa, Dane, Jefferson and Waushara counties, and asking that the appeals for State aid be carefully considered.

The special committee on the revision of the statutes presented a report and accompanying bill, and an extended spirited debate ensued as to the manner of considering the same.

There is evidently considerable difference of opinion as to the manner of getting at the revision, and there are growing prospects for a longer session than was anticipated.

FROM PORTAGE.

Special Dispatch to the Janesville Gazette. PORTAGE, Wis., June 5.—The Grand Council of the Temple of Honor has concluded its organization by electing the following as Trustees, for the terms of one, two and three years, as follows:

R. B. Rice, of Escobedo, one year.
M. A. Norris, of Janesville, two years.
H. A. Sheldon, of Burlington, three years.

FROM MADISON.

Special dispatch to the Janesville Gazette. MADISON, June 5.—Lafayette Kellogg, Clerk of the Supreme Court, died last night after a lingering feebleness. He was a faithful and efficient officer, having held the position since the territorial days in 1840. He was in his 60th year of age, and one of the earliest pioneers of the State. The Court met this morning to adjourn till Tuesday, out of respect to his memory.

A meeting of citizens was held last night to organize committees for the relief of the tornado sufferers. A central committee was appointed and work will progress immediately.

Condition of the Assassinated Emperor—A Little Trouble in the Imperial Family—A Cabinet Council—The Preliminary Investigation.

BERLIN, June 5.—The Emperor slept six hours last night, but looks very pale to-day. His exhaustion has somewhat increased, but he is perfectly conscious. Both wrists are so swollen that the use of his hands is no longer possible. His physicians have ordered that the Emperor shall be guaranteed the utmost quiet. There fore the interview this morning with the Crown Prince and Crown Princess was very short. The Emperor requested Prince Frederick William to discharge the routine business of the royal family, as it was announced in these dispatches last night would be the case. The Crown Prince, however, strongly protested against the idea of a regency, and up to the hour of sending this dispatch has not changed his mind.

A cabinet council has assembled this afternoon under the Presidency of Prince Bismarck.

The Judge charged with the preliminary investigation received, to-day, the helmet, cloak, shirt, and uniform that the Imperial Magistrate wore on Sunday. They are well besmeared with blood and pierced with shot.

Nobeling, the assassin, is still alive, although perfectly unconscious. Prospects of his recovery exist, but madness is feared, owing to the dreadful shock which his brain received from the pistol balls which glanced off his skull.

POTTER'S FRAUD.

General Butler Getting Interested. Anderson Cross-Examined.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Anderson's cross-examination to-day developed the fact that he is accustomed to lie as a habit, and tell the truth only when it is convenient for him to do so. He drew a line between deception and perjury that was quite amusing to the committee, and even the Democratic members did not try to conceal their contempt for him. It was interesting to hear their comments upon his testimony.

The Republican members would chaff the Democrats upon Anderson being their pet witness, and the Democrats would retort by alluding to the fact that Anderson was a Republican, and had been appointed to office by Hayes. They would also retort that Anderson got his political education and his ideas of truth telling from Republican association, and they were merely developing the standard of morality of the Republican party.

Butler remarked to-day that he was just becoming interested in this investigation. Paul Strobach, a Republican, formerly Lieutenant Governor of Alabama, in commenting upon the Nash-Anderson agreement described it as follows: "He said that two rascals signed a document to the effect that that they were rascals, got two of their acquaintances to witness they were rascals before a notary public, and took oath that they were rascals; deposited the agreement with Matthews in order that he might know it himself, and tell others that they were rascals, and finally one of them gives the paper to the committee to show the world that they were rascals." Strobach says that they have as bad men, no doubt in Alabama, but they are not such fools.

PASSING AWAY.

Major McDonald, Chief Clerk of the United States Senate, Dying.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Major McDonald, Chief Clerk of the Senate, is lying at the point of death. He has had forty-two years of unmitigated service in the office of Secretary of the Senate. His father, John G. McDonald, was first Chief Clerk of the Senate, having been appointed in 1800 by Samuel Otis, First Secretary of the Senate. The son entered the service of the Senate as page in 1830. In 1836 he was appointed clerk, and when his father died, he succeeded him in office, which he has held to this time. Thus father and son have held office for seventy-eight years. Major McDonald has a son, now one of his subordinates, who aspires to succeed him, it being solemnly believed by some people that the office is hereditary.

Major McDonald has known more public men intimately than any person in the United States, and no man ever served in the Senate whose personal appearance, characteristics, and peculiarities he cannot describe.

Another old and faithful servant of the Senate is Isaac Bassett, Assistant Sergeant-at-arms, who entered the Senate as a page over sixty years ago, and has served continually ever since.

NOMINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The President has nominated John S. NABBY INVESTIGATING.

Mr. Nabby Hasn't Time to Express His Views, as He is Engaged in Pushing the Investigation.

Toledo Blade. WASHINGTON, May 25, 1878.—Don't ask me to write or to do anything up the sort. I've other fish to fry, and now I've a catch. I am assist in investigating the frauds, and there are enough up them to unsettle you, Mr. Hayes, and put in his place the gleits patriot, Tilden. The ends of justice will be served, and I shall be my post-office! The long run of impeachment at the Corners will be ended, and Bismarck will soon be enabled to do a cash business. When Tilden is President, Isacker Gavitt is Collector, and I am Postmaster, there will be a change in things.

Halleloo! All the trouble we have is to keep the fellows away from we don't want to testify. We've too many witnesses for they don't all know what to swear to. For instance, Deekin Program, the blessed old imbecile, wanted to come on here and testify to his given $200 to arm a company of Democrats in Mississippi to carry that State for Tilden, and it took my smart fingers to keep him away.

Tilden has a reputation for being money and witnesses are come in to swarms. We shall prove that there wuz no such thing ez a fair election in Florida and Louisiana; that in both States men took our money and then voted again; that our rifle clubs wuz intimidated; and that our repeaters in Louisiana wuz kept away from the polls by force.

There ain't again to be no trouble about it. We've men here which will swear to anything, and, in fact, we've an embarrassment of swearers material.

I wouldn't give a 10-cent piece to be insured my post office. Just as it last again to be done! Truth which wuz crushed to earth is risin' again. Tilden and Reform! The old man is comin down handsomely. I love to labor for him, for he knows a man's valyc.

We've got 'em. We shall investigate just as fur ez we want to, and that will be in just enough States to elect Tilden. We've got Mr. Hayes this time. We shall teach the Abolitionists that, when a pure man like Samyool J. Tilden heiz bought and paid for an office, he is goin to git it. We've sworn not to be swindled out of wuz wuz ours by purchis. Tilden is a great man. It costs him too much to buy the nomination and the election not to hev 'em. We are goin to be President. I am arrangin it.

You will hear from me next week. The Corners will be electrified. The country is safe, and Democracy is on the high road to success.

GAMBLING FOR HUMAN LIFE.

Two Men Throw Dice for the Privilege of Committing Murder—One of Them Shot Dead.

Cincinnati Commercial. But perhaps the most tragic, soul-harrowing scene that ever took place at a gambling table transpired at a public house in Fort on Prince some years ago. Several parties were waiting about the room for the game to commence. Among the crowd of loiterers was a Captain St. Every, a noted gambler, deadly duelist and a well-known man of pluck.

Some one spoke up, "Who'll play?" "I will," said the captain of a French frigate which had just arrived in the harbor, and seizing a dice-box threw to win or lose the amount of a small sum of money that then lay upon the table. He was ignorant of the stake to be played.

"Monsieur commandant, you have won," said Captain St. Every, pushing toward him several piles of gold.

Stounded at the sight of so much gold the captain drew back saying: "Gentlemen, I should be wanting not only in common honesty, but even in good manners, were I to appropriate the sum which I have then lay upon the table. He was ignorant of the stake to be played.

"Sir," said Captain St. Every, "you must take it, for if you lost you would have been obliged to pay the same sum."

"I am a miser, sir, if you think so. I do not conceive my honor endangered in reference to paying a debt of honor which I never contracted, nor in refusing to accept of so large a sum which I never expected to win."

"Monsieur le commandant," shrieked Captain St. Every, raising his voice to the highest pitch, "if you had lost you should have paid. I would have made you do so."

This was fire to the gunpowder, intended to provoke a challenge, and it accomplished its purpose. "Sir," said Captain St. Every, "I don't wish to take any advantage of you, which my acknowledged ability in the use of the sword and pistol gives me, so I offer you terms of equality."

"Bring a pistol here at once, load it, and the chance of the dice shall determine which shall blow the other's brains out."

"Agreed," said the nothing daunted frigate commandant.

A shock of horror ran through the veins of the assembled crowd at the barbarity of the blood-curdling affair. Some shrank from the room, others, more hardened in the sights of horror, crowded near the gambling table, perfectly cognizant of the desperate character of St. Every's intended landing the bravery of the unknown.

Each party examined the pistols. The naval captain first threw the fatal dice. He threw eleven.

"A good throw," said St. Every, holding for a moment his own; "the chances are now in your favor, but listen, if it turns out as it appears to me it will, that fortune favors me and not me, I wish no more money nor pity, as I would think either a coward who would spare the other."

"Sir," I need not your impudent remonstrances to back me neither now nor at any other time," replied the commandant.

St. Every took the box and threw fifteen.

The company were paralyzed with horror.

Monsieur le commandant arose. "Your life belongs to me, sir," said St. Every, throwing down the dice on the table.

"Fire, sir," said the commandant placing his hand on his heart, "an honest man is never afraid to—"

St. Every's bullet scattered the brains and blood of the unlucky commandant over the clothes and persons of the bystanders, as his lifeless body fell to the saloon floor.

St. Every, deserted to the English, and soon after fell mortally wounded at the battle of Irois as the English were carrying the day.

The Would-Be Assassin of the Emperor William.

Berlin Dispatch to London News. We more we learn about Hoedel's antecedents the blacker becomes his character.

At the age of 13 he ran away from his step-father and roving about for a while, was eventually arrested and placed in a house for the education of juvenile vagabonds and offenders. On this occasion a Leipzig public school, which he visited before taking to the fields, gave him a certificate in which he was called a confirmed thief. After a two-years stay at the Zeits Reformatory, he was apprenticed to a smith at the same place. Though a quick and clever boy, his conduct in his new position was so bad that when, after two years' misbehavior, his intractability caused him to make a murderous attack on a fellow-journeyman, he was sent back to the Reformatory. Thence he went to two different masters to his craft, until he espoused Socialism as a more eligible trade.

Recent Telephone Invention.

Prof. D. E. Hughes, who has invented the contrivance for increasing the loudness of sounds transmitted through wire and telephone, is a native of Kentucky. Some discussion as to priority of invention seems likely to take place between Prof. Hughes and Mr. Edison, or yet more probably, between their respective friends. In his carbon telephone Mr. Edison unquestionably led the way, by utilizing his discovery that the resistance of carbon, as an electric conductor, varies when that substance is subjected to very high pressures, such as those of mercury, platinum, lead, and iron having been tried in this manner. The feat of rendering audible the tramping of a fly is certainly a marvellous novelty, and the invention of Professor Hughes seems full of promise, but as he does not patent it, there cannot well be a contest at law with Mr. Edison, if the latter should insist that his earlier device was equally capable of magnifying sound.

GARRIER PIGEONS.

The homing pigeon was the only messenger to the outer world of Frenchmen that the besieged residents of Paris had when the city was surrounded by the Germans in 1870. The bird then proved of such value that diligent efforts have been made by European Governments to improve the breed. Some interest in the same subject seems to be taken in this country. The Scranton Volant Club recently offered prizes for pigeons that would fly 150 miles most quickly. The race is to take place on June 14, when pigeons brought from New York city will be liberated at Sunbury, Pennsylvania; Philadelphia, near Huntingdon, Pennsylvania; Troy birds at Auburn, and Utics birds at Albion. The Utics birds have been tried several times during the past fortnight over a part of their course; from Rochester to Utics, a distance of 125 miles. At every trial the birds have flown swiftly back to Utics. A race of 500 miles distance, for a prize of $100 in gold, is soon to take place.

An Interesting Puzzle.

Perhaps some of our readers are not familiar with the following puzzle: A young man asked an old man for his daughter in marriage. The answer was, "Go into the orchard and bring in a parcel of apples. Give me one-half of the whole number, and the mother one-half of the balance, and I will have an apple over, and the daughter one-half of the remainder and half an apple over, and have one left for yourself without cutting the apple, and then, if she is willing you can have her." He solved the question, and how many did he bring? Fourteen as you can easily prove. The old woman was to have one-half of the balance, which would be three and a half, and have an apple over, which would make four apples for her. There would be three apples left, of which the daughter was to have one-half and half an apple over, which would give her two, and leave the lover his one, without cutting the apple.

CENTENNIALS.

Valley Forge and the Vale of Wyoming to be fittingly remembered.

Pennsylvania is soon to have two centennial picnics, at which patriotic oratory will be on tap.

First, at Valley Forge, on June 19, when the return of the British forces from the State and the breaking up of Washington's winter encampment will be commemorated.

The headquarters here will be the two-story stone building, compact, well preserved, and fronted by a pleasant yard.

The Lexington canvas tent, under which 10,000 people can be seated, is to be pitched within a stone's throw of the old Fort Mifflin.

A diamond-shaped redoubt with a transverse embankment and two triangular beds. In the center is the great oak under which Washington stood with his field glass and laughed when Lafayette slipped through the clutches of the red-coats at Matson's Point.

Henry Mitton Brown is to deliver the oration. The Centennial celebration is to be made in the Vale of Wyoming on the 31 and 4th of July.

The official programme announces, with lurid rhetoric, that the history of the valley will be fitly and beautifully illustrated in a moving pageant, typifying the several important epochs, commencing with the first settlement when the Leni Lenape held possession of that tribe.

The introduction of Christianity by Zinzendorf will be portrayed by the historical tent of skins, within which will be seen the Moravian pioneer and the legendary serpent, followed by groups representing the struggle known as the Penna-mite war.

In the revolutionary period will be given the battle and massacre, which will receive an added emphasis from the presence of the whole or a portion of the descendants of the Six Nations, who come from their reservation in New York to participate in the sham battle illustrative of the fierce struggle in which their fathers worked their cruel way a hundred years ago.

The first agricultural epoch will be followed by a tableau emblematic of the war of 1812, and this by one eminently appropriate to the discovery and use of anthracite coal, in which will be seen the first grate ever seen in the Valley, filled with burning coal, before which the owner, Judge Fell, shall be seen perspiring in his combustion with a pair of bellows.

The era of the post rider and the old-fashioned stage coach will form an important feature of the pageant, the driver, Jeff Swainbank, and his coach being the last to travel passengers in advance of the mountains prior to the coming of the iron horse.

Other scenes will represent the Mexican war, the civil war and the future of the valley. Besides this "living panorama" there will be in the procession a vast multitude, consisting of thousands of military, the Grand Army of the Republic from a hundred points, the fire departments of Eastern Pennsylvania, societies of all degrees and benevolent trade associations of all kinds in immense numbers. What a patriotic spectacle it will be.

The Waste of War.

No doubt war is a very dreadful thing, but a writer in the Popular Science Monthly shows that its peculiar effects are worse than the generality of men have any conception of. Here are the arguments. We confess that they are somewhat deep for us.

"Gunpowder contains on an average 75 per cent of saltpetre or nitrate of potassium equivalent to 10.2 per cent of combined or available nitrogen. Of the 10.2 per cent, 9.98 per cent, or practically the whole, escapes in the form of free nitrogen, and is consequently rendered useless. Assuming the total production of gunpowder to be at least 100,000,000 pounds annually, this is equal to the destruction in advance of 500,000,000 pounds of bread a year. Every ounce of powder used in war, celebrations, &c., means the absolute unrecuperable loss to the world of a certain quantity of food, diminishes the fertility of the earth, and makes the struggle for existence steadily more difficult. There is here furnished an additional argument against Fourth of July combustion of gun powder, and arbitration advocates may also fairly cite it against war. A great war not only extinguishes large numbers of useful lives, but does so at the cost of potential life. If people buried every year 500,000,000 pounds of bread in the earth, they would be guilty of frightful prodigality; but, then, the nitrogen would still be available for the future. When they burn 100,000,000 pounds of gunpowder, however, they perform an infinitely more wasteful act, as they permanently diminish the amount of food the earth is capable of yielding."

BRIEFLETS.

—Sunshiny.
—Red Ribbon meeting to-night.
—The photograph will be here to-morrow.

—The Baptist society took in last night at its festival about $115.
—Riley has his entire force employed in making ice cream for the Bazar of Nations.

—Hon. J. A. Sleeper has arrived from Chicago, called by the illness of his father.

—Mrs. W. W. Tallman is quite sick. Erysipelas has set in and her recovery is deemed doubtful.

—Echlin & Foote have an interesting advertisement in another column. Do not fail to read the same.

—Prof. Van Cleave gives a free lecture on the Cincinnati musical festival, at Prof. Haire's rooms this evening.

—Now that the "innocents abroad" have reached home again the discussion of water-works has revived on the street corners.

—Mr. Thomas C. Sleeper is still very dangerously sick and is not expected to live, and his relations and friends have been summoned by telegraph.

—General Bintliff called upon us to-day. He is making some great improvements in the mechanical department of his office at Darlington, and is at the same time giving his readers a live paper.

—Mr. Patrick Collins has built for Mr. E. H. Davies a large urn for flowers and plants, which makes a handsome addition to Mr. Davies' lawn. It is of brick, covered with cement, and rests upon a firm foundation.

—Dr. William Horne will sail Saturday next for England, and will take a trip through Europe before his return. He has left his last mare, Queen of the West, in the hands of Mr. Crockett, who will use her on the road this summer.

—All those who want to see for themselves whether the photograph does all that is claimed for it, can have an opportunity to-morrow. It will be on exhibition at Lippin's hall for three days commencing to-morrow afternoon.

—Father Doyle had all his plans of attending the Temperance Convention at Oshkosh, spoiled by being called on as a witness in the case of Brown, charged with incendiarism. The house in which Brown lived belonged to Father Doyle.

—If the Council don't take action soon in regard to the improvement of the park, the public will have little opportunity to enjoy the new walks and benches, unless they stroll forth among them next winter, when ulsters and wraps will be in demand.

—Mr. Will Fry as a pig-tailed celestial. Mr. Arthur Conant as an untamed Bashu Bazook, and Mr. Will Webster as our Big Brother Jonathan were the conspicuous representatives of the masculine sex in the Bazar of Nations last evening. They will all be visible to-night.

—A letter from Burr Robbins states that last week the show experienced the hardest storm which ever struck them, and it rained nearly all the time. He is still going northward, and after reaching Appleton June 11, according to the route already given in the Gazette, he will be at Winnetonka June 12, and at Ripon June 13.

—As will be seen from a special telegraph published elsewhere Mr. M. A. Norris of this city, and a member of the Crystal Temple of Honor, has been elected one of the trustees of the Grand Council, now in session at Portage. This with S. Clark Burnham and A. D. Wickham, makes three of the officers elected from this city.

—Mr. George Reese, the meat market man, has a trunk made of camphor wood, which he got in China about thirty years ago, and which still keeps its strong perfume. He has also in his list of curiosities a genuine skull-cap of red flannel with a silk tassel, which he bought in Greece years ago, and a vest made for him to order in China.

—Mr. Lorenzo Dearborn was operated upon yesterday, and twenty-one distinct calculi removed, weighing in all two ounces and five grains. The largest calculus was about three-quarters of an inch square and weighed about half an ounce. The operation was most skillfully performed, and the patient is to-day resting easy, he having secured the first sleep he has had for weeks.

—The Bazar of Nations promises to be much more attractive to-night than last evening. One of the large parlors is being prepared for the proper representations of different phases of American life and history. The Chinese booth has been removed to a more capacious quarter, where its wonderful curiosities can be better viewed by the multitude. Mrs. H. A. Smith, will assume the character of the Tambourine girl, in costume additional features will be attached to all the departments. Admission 10 cents.

—Mrs. Matriot, who was arrested a few days ago on the charge of keeping a house of ill-fame, was to-day arrested again on a peace warrant, on the complaint of Mrs. Wilbur, a neighbor, who claims that Mrs. Matriot has threatened to club her to death and to do sundry other acts of violence, to which she naturally objects. Justice Pritchard decided that she must give bonds of $300 to keep the peace for two months, and in default of the same to be committed to jail. She is therefore hunting around for bondsmen. The other charge against her, will be brought up next Monday.

—Miss Laura Feas is in trouble. She is hunting about to find a father for an expected child. Last week she swore out a warrant for a young man of this city, and he suddenly disappeared. Yesterday she went before a Justice in Whitewater, where her home is, and swore out a similar warrant against another man, one of family, who also lives here. This morning the second one whom she charges with the act, went to Whitewater to appear in response to the warrant. On learning that she had already declared under oath that another man was the guilty one, the case was continued until documentary proof of her alleged fickleness could be had. Her case now is doubly deplorable.

HOME AGAIN.

Return of the Committee Sent Forth to Examine Water-Works.

The Committee sent out to examine into the water-works of other cities, and to gather facts to place before the people to help them to decide concerning the advisability of establishing works here, returned from their trip last evening. They express themselves very highly pleased with what they saw and learned, and have come back laden with facts gathered by personal observation and by the inspection of documents and accounts. The result of their visit will be gathered into a formal report to place before the citizens, but it will take ten days or more to prepare this. Of course the members of the Committee do not feel at liberty to express formally and openly any opinion, only as they talk it over as individuals, in an unofficial capacity, with the fellow-citizens. Some of those who were rather opposed to water-works, came back strongly in favor of establishing them in this city, and only hesitate as to the best way of accomplishing this. Some of the cities which they visited built and control the water-works, while others are built and owned by private corporations. The Committee spent yesterday at Lake View. Previously they were at Marshalltown, and they speak in high terms of the treatment they received there, as well as in the other places, their visit to which has already been recorded in the Gazette. Everywhere every possible attention was given them, and every possible means afforded them for gaining information. The forthcoming report will be full of meat, and will prove instructive to all interested. The Committee apparently lusted up all the facts to be gained, and they propose to show by their report that their mission was not a mere junketing one, but that they went for business and accomplished it.

A BELOIT BLAZE.

Last evening a fire broke out in the foundry building of Merrill & Houston's iron works at Beloit, and before it could be subdued caused a damage of about $1000 to the building and its contents.

THE CIRCUIT COURT.

In the Circuit Court to-day the case of Albert Grant against George Pettibone, an Illinois constable, for false imprisonment, was argued, but up to 4 o'clock no verdict had been rendered.

The case of the State vs. Walter Brown, charged with arson, will now occupy the attention of the Court.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 68 degrees above and at 2 o'clock at 74 degrees above. Clear. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 59 degrees and 72 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, for the Tennessee, Ohio valley, and upper lake region, rising barometer, cooler northwest to northeast winds and clear or partly cloudy weather with occasional light rains in the first and east sections, and possibly followed in the western portions by falling barometer and warmer southeasterly winds.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

YESTERDAY'S BASE BALL.

At Indianapolis: Indianapolis 9, Cincinnati 3.

At Boston: Boston 9, Milwaukee 3.

At Providence: Chicago 2, Providence 1.

At Cleveland: Forest City 7, Allegheny 15.

At Buffalo: Buffalo 7, Rochester 2.

At Hornellsville: Tecumseh 2, Hornellsville 1.

THE MILWAUKEE RACES.

Yesterday in Milwaukee the 2:50 race was hotly contested by eight starters, and was won in straight heats by Richardwood, owned by Mr. Van Shaick, of Milwaukee, the time being 2:33½, 2:30, 2:31½. Highland Queen won second money, and Kittie S. third. The first half of the second heat was trotted by Richardwood in 1:12.

The 2:39 class had six starters. Croix won, taking the second, fourth and fifth heats in 2:28, 2:28½ and 2:29½. John Hall took the first heat, in 2:25, but only won third place. The third heat and second place was won by Lucille in 2:28½. These were the favorites in the pools.

THE BAZAR OF NATIONS.

The parlors of the Baptist church last evening presented a very attractive appearance, and were crowded with spectators eager to witness the novelties of the "Bazar of Nations." In the center of the large room stood the Oriental booth, with its bright colored decorations and its Rebecca's well, whose water essayed strongly of lemon, and the patrons of which were cared for by Misses Fannie Wright and Jessie Crosby, appropriately costumed. Miss Mary E. Crosby superintended it.

Around the sides of the parlor were ranged the other booths. The Swiss nation was represented by a straw thatched cottage, in which was a fine display of Serrento work, some specimens being finely inscribed, and others handsomely painted with flowers. Mr. William Payne contributed this stock, it being of his own handiwork. Mrs. M. P. Leavitt and Misses Adeline Wiggins and Watson presided. Next to this was the Turkish and Persian cafe, in which were perfumes and coffee, presided over by Misses Gussie Macdon, and Gertrude Hemming, and Nanette Royce, and Mr. Arthur Conant.

The Italian booth contained paintings and statuary, and was cared for by Mrs. C. B. Conard, Misses Lizzie Battlo, Cora Bliss, and Nona Schmitt. Miss Lizzie Battlo presided at the organ. Miss Lizzie Blinn sang a sweet song, and rendered it very finely indeed. Miss Cora Bliss sang "The Flower Girl," she being appropriately costumed.

The Chinese and Japanese booth attracted a great deal of attention. It contained many curiosities and was liberally patronized. Among the other rare things were several which were only yesterday received by Mrs. S. G. Griswold from an old friend formerly connected with the Blind Institute, Mrs. Dr. Cross, nee Baldwin. She sent them from Birmah. They consisted of an elegant box, containing shells, ornaments for the ears, bracelets, rings, etc. This booth was cared for by Misses Clara Palmer, Mary Hoskins, Gertrude Morris, Mary Collins, and Mr. William Fry.

The French booth was arrayed in regal splendor, and represented the court of Louis XV, who was represented by Mr. A. O. Wilson. The ladies were Miss Fannie Terwilliger, Delia Dearborn, Minnie Calkins, and Belle Dearborn. Their costumes were elegant.

The United States booth contained a great many representatives, and presented many unique costumes. Miss Louise Hovey had the booth in charge. Mr. Will Webster made an excellent Uncle Sam. Mr. Samuels represented William Penn, and his wife represented Mrs. Hancock. Miss Hattie Church as the Goddess of Liberty. Misses Annie Hoskins and Fannie Moon, ladies of '76. Misses Jessie Murdoch, Agnes Grove, Elvira Church, and Carrie Burdick, Quakeresses, Misses Jessie Dearborn, Addie Carpenter, and Mr. Will Palmer, represented Indians.

In the adjoining room were bountifully provided tables which were crowded with patrons, during the most of the evening. Ice cream and cake were provided and the ladies having the refreshments in charge did their work well.

The costumes were throughout attractive and novel, and the rooms thus filled with entertainers and entertained presented a gay and attractive appearance. The affair was so much of a success that it has been decided to repeat it this evening, the price of admission being reduced to ten cents, and additional costumes having been arranged for.

COOKSVILLE.

—One of the heaviest rain falls of the season in this vicinity occurred Sunday night, June 2d.

—Most of the corn planted is up, but it is all of the yellow variety.

—Rev. Mr. May gave our people an invitation two weeks ago to subscribe to a fund for a new organ, and the result was $60 in about ten minutes. The next Sunday a new instrument, one of Eskey's, costing in wholesale $100, was in its place to do its part with the choir. The amount now raised is $80. So much for business.

—Miss Nash, State Deputy for the Good Templars, made the lodge here a visit last Saturday evening. She is heartily engaged in the work.

—The patrons of the cheese factory at a meeting held last Monday, concluded to hold the cheese a week or two longer, thinking the factory was a better place to cure it than to send green cheese to market this cold weather.

—Hogs were sold last week at $2.65. What is corn worth at these figures?

—A number of our people went to Oregon a few days since and they describe the scene of the late tornado as fearful.

The cemetery near the village was sadly demoralized, grave-stones torn up by the roots, tombstones and monuments blown over and broken, and other damage done, which will take a long time to remedy, and we learn that a funeral was held there last week. The bodies of the children were found in the woods, and no one knew where they came from.

FOOTVILLE.

—On account of rainy weather, the institute held at this place on Saturday last was rather poorly attended.

—Burglars entered the store of W. J. Owen a few nights since, and carried off with them cash and goods to the amount of 50 or 60 dollars. No clue has been obtained.

—The game of ball played in Brodhead on Saturday last, between the Clippers of this place and Broughton's nine, was won by the Clippers. Broughton has not up by the Clippers, and picked hard, but it was of no use.

The following is the score:
Clippers.....1 0 0 0 0 4 2 0 7
Broughton.....2 0 0 1 0 1 2 0 6
Reached first base, Clippers 24, Broughton 11.
The base hits, Logan 1, Owen 1, Silverthorn 1, Doran 1—Clippers 4.

Passed balls, Owen, Clippers, 3.
Passed balls, Broughton, 4.
Wild pitches, 3.
Bases on called balls, Clippers, 2.
Bases on called balls, Broughton, 2.
Umpire, P. Nathan.

—The house of W. J. Owen was entered by burglars last Monday night, and four watches taken, two of gold and two silver. Burglars had entered his store but two nights earlier, and got away with considerable plunder. Nothing has yet been heard of the thieves.

An Undeniable Truth.
You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning, will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a Druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you.

Womanly Elegance and Grace.
There are few among our fair readers who would not gladly possess the rosy complexion, the beautiful form, the cheerfulness and elasticity of spirits, that good health always imparts. Parker's Ginger Tonic will restore these feminine attributes to thousands whose shattered constitutions are due to functional derangement. It radically cures Dyspepsia, gives tone to the enfeebled organs, dissipates Headache, Neuralgia and Nervousness, relieves painful Periods, and safely establishes regularity of the female functions. It soothes the nerves, imparts ease and strength to mothers themselves, and through the milk to their nursing babes, prevents the Naustric and Constipation peculiar to ladies in a delicate condition, and greatly relieves the sufferings of the period. It acts like a charm on the digestive machinery, speedily counteracts the weakening effects on the bowels of excessive heat, indigestion, or impure water, and is warranted to cure the worst forms of Colic, Cramps, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Bloody Flux, Cholera Infantum, and even Asiatic Cholera if taken in time. Buy a $1.00 bottle of your druggist, A. J. Roberts, or a sample bottle at 15 cents, and test its extraordinary merits.
